Welfare Dept. Criticized By State Auditor

Emergency Grants To New Orleans Cited In Report

BATON ROUGE, July 30 (AP)—The Louisiana Department of Public Welfare has nearly a half million dollars in outstanding claims against fraudulent and erroneous payments, a state audit said today.

The report, covering the fiscal year ending June 30, 1953, praised the department for its detective work but thought "collection and followup procedures appeared to be inadequate."

After collecting $37,202 in the fiscal year under review and another $7,202 in the fiscal year under review and another $71,514 in the following six months, the department still had $418,311 uncollected from "fraudulent claims, misrepresentations, concealment of assets, etc."

The matter of dunning these payments has been "vexatious. . . for a number of years," the report admitted. It was signed by auditor Allison Kolb.

Auditors also questioned the number of emergency grants being made by three welfare districts in Orleans Parish. During fiscal 1952-53, the districts made 452 emergency grants, compared with only 31 for all other districts in the state.

A previous audit noted that in three previous months the same three districts had made 179 emergency payments "while all other parishes of the state issued only five."

The report said the Welfare Department, "so far as we know," is the only agency disbursing funds at a local level by means of drafts drawn on the state office.

"For the purpose of this type of payment," auditors explained, "an emergency is defined in the rules and regulations of the department as being a critical situation which immediately threatens the applicant's life or permanent well being.

Among other limitations, it is provided that not more than one draft, not to exceed $30, may be issued to any one applicant in any one month."

They thought the Welfare Department had "adequate procedures and facilities available" to handle emergency payments at state level and recommended "the practice of paying by draft be reconsidered with a view of its possible discontinuance."

Other audits, covering the year ended Dec. 31, 1953:

1. Criticized the West Carroll police jury for making "flat allowances of $100" for members to attend conventions, "inadequately supported by the required evidence of expenditure," and for allocating road funds among individual jurors

1954 Cotton To Be Supported At Above 31 Cents

WASHINGTON, July 30—UP—The Agriculture Department Friday announced it will support the price of the 1954 cotton crop at a national average of 31.58 cents a pound, up slightly from last year's 30.80 cents a pound.

This year's crop of extra long staple cotton will be supported at 65.25 cents a pound, compared with last year's 73.92 cents.

Peanuts will be supported at 12.24 cents a pound, compared with last year's 11.9 cents.

The upland cotton supports and the peanut support price are above minimum levels announced in advance of planting time because of increases in their parity prices. The prop on extra long staple cotton is the minimum announced last March. Parity on that crop has dropped.

The average upland cotton price prop is figured for middlig 7-8-inch cotton.

The average rate for middling 15-16 inch cotton will be 33.23 cents a pound with premiums and discounts for other grades and length combinations based on the middling 15-16 rate.

The average support price for extra long staple cotton is made up of an average support of 65.53 cents a pound for American-Egyptian type and 56.22 for Sealand and Sea Island, two other extra long staple types.

Sen. McCarthy Rapped, Praised By Colleagues

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—Amid tense scenes, Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) tonight demanded formal Senate condemnation of the conduct of Sen. McCarthy—and was quickly accused by a McCarthy backer of being an unwitting catspaw for the Communist party.

FLANDERS CHECKS SPEECH — Sen. Ralph Flanders (R-VT) poses yesterday in his Washington office looking over a copy of a speech he was to make on the Senate floor later. Flanders seeks a vote of censure against Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) for what Flanders calls unbecoming conduct. (AP Wirephoto)

The countercharge was made by Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) who declared Flanders, the Communists and Americans for Democratic Action form a "great multitude marching with one persecution complex against a humble senator."

Flanders presented his censure resolution—first of its kind in 25 years—declaring McCarthy's tactics tend to "bring the Senate into disrepute." And he told the Senate that McCarthy can no more be appeased than could Hitler or the Kremlin.

Sen. Knowland (Calif), the GOP leader, quickly protested that this was no way to handle the issue; that "what is properly a judicial decision will be made at white heat in a political body."

Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) said the approach represented in the Flanders resolution smacked of "mob rule." Though McCarthy has been guilty of "political thuggery," Morse said, the proper way to handle him is to present a real bill of particulars and try him before the bar of the Senate before Congress adjourns.

Dirksen, known to widespread TV audiences and others for his melodious voice, said Flanders was the unsuspecting victim of forces out to "liquidate" McCarthy. "Who got in bed with the dis-

Brownell Asks Authority To Offer

Rewards Up To $500,000 For Tips On Smuggling Of Atomic Weapons Into U.S.

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)— Rewards of up to half a million dollars were recommended by the Eisensower administration today for tips on enemy agents or other persons seeking to smuggle atomic weapons into the United States, or manufacture them here.

In addition to big cash payments, lifetime asylum in this country would be offered aliens and their families who provide such information.

These aliens would be admitted into the United States regardless of any laws barring them on the usual grounds, such as Communist membership, moral turpitude, etc.

". . . for permanent residence without regard to their admissibility under any other laws and regulations," was the way Atty. Gen. Brownell put it.

Brownell submitted the proposal to Vice President Nixon and House legislation for introduction in Congress.

He said the plan has the backing of the National Security Council, which is composed of President Eisenhower, Nixon, Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of Defense Wilson, Foreign Operations Administrator Harold E. Stassen, and Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming.

The amount of reward in each case for information on illicit traffic in atomic materials and weapons in this country would be determined by a board made up of the Atomic Energy Commission the attorney general and the secretary of defense.

Payments would be made out of AEC appropriations.

Employes of the United States would be specifically barred from participating in the rewards, and they would be liable to five years imprisonment and $1,000 fine if caught conniving with others to share in the payments. They also would be barred from further federal employment.

The Brownell proposal followed recent disclosures that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover had privately circulated an alert to law enforcement officials in all parts of the country, cautioning them that developments in the nuclear field now made possible the manufacture of atomic weapons in a size which could be concealed on the person.

Ridgway Warns Of Over-Emphasis On Atomic Bombs

HARRIMAN, N. Y., July 30—UP—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Army chief of staff, warned Friday night that the United States must not place undue reliance on atomic weapons because "in the final analysis" it is the ground forces which pin down victory in war.

Ridgway also declared in a speech that wars are fought to gain political goals and "if utter annihilation of the enemy is the means chosen to win victory, that victory will be empty indeed."

He said that sound strategy must stand firmly on all military arms and that national policy "becomes nothing but bluff — and obvious bluff—when the military capability for backing it up is patently inadequate."

Ridgway was the principal speaker at the opening session of the fifth annual American Assembly, a congregation of some 54 Americans famed in business, diplomacy, labor and education gathered for a weekend of roundtable discussion of national interest.

Ridgway challenged the idea that air bombing of cities and industries defeated Germany in World War II or that the atomic bombing of Hirohhima and Nagasaki forced Japans capitulation.

The Army chief had previously argued against manpower cuts under the "new look" defense budget.

"I do not by any means minimize the vital importance of the portion of strategy which is primarily aimed at destruction of an enemy's war making potential in his own homeland," Ridgway said. "I merely warn against undue reliance upon that one aspect of strategy at the expense of the other equally essential aspects. . .

"I do, however, believe that it is vitally important to remember that wars are won by the achievement of domination over human

Mrs. John B. Out of curiosity I would like to know how many other boys and girls will be 13 on August 13? Who will let us know?

Prices Received By Farmers Drop

WASHINGTON, July 30 —UP— Prices farmers received for crops and livestock fell .4 per cent during the month ended July 15, the Agriculture Department reported Friday.

The decline was led by drops on beef cattle, hogs, and fruits. It was the second consecutive monthly decline in farm prices and followed a 4 per cent drop registered from mid-May to mid-June.

At the same time, the department said farm living and production costs decreased almost 1 per cent during the month.

Tension Grows Between India And Portugal

Diplomats Given Walking Papers In Territorial Row

NEW DELHI, India, July 30 (AP) — Portugal handed walking papers today to Indian diplomats stationed in her colonial territories on the west Indian Coast. India promptly retaliated by ordering the Portuguese consul general and consul to quit Bombay by Sunday.

Portugal charged that Indian Consul General Vincent Coelho at Goa, the capital of Portuguese India, and his deputy at Mormugoa have led an underground movement seeking merger with India. They were given until tomorrow noon to leave.

Tension between India and Portugal over the 1,537 square miles of Portuguese holdings on the Indian sub-continent has been high since Indian nationalists seized the Portuguese village of Dadra a week ago. Reports received in Bombay yesterday said Indians had taken control of six nearby villages in the Portuguese District of Damao, 100 miles north of Bombay.

"The United Front of Goans," led by Goanese living in Bombay, has threatened to invade Portuguese India on Aug. 15, India's Independence Day.

A Lisbon announcement charged the Indian officials in the District of Goa with "personal activities constituting a serious menace for the security of that territory."

The Indian government "emphatically repudiates imputations cast against their representatives in Goa," its note countered.

India's note, delivered to the Portuguese legation here, said India decided to withdraw recognition of Dr. Emilio Patricio and Dr. Antonio Eduardo de Carvalho Resano Garcia, consul general and consul in Bombay, "in view of the grave accusations against consular representatives of India in Goa and

14-Inch Rain In Houston Vicinity Floods 2 Bayous

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Up to 14 inches of rain fell Friday in north Harris County, flooding two bayous and forcing evacuation of at least 85 homes.

Tropical storm Barbara cut a wet and cloudy path across the middle of a drouth-disaster area of Texas, bringing a heavy downpour.

Families along Green's and Hall's Bayous were evacuated after flood control engineers warned the bayous would rise at least another six inches. The homes are outside Houston in the vicinity of the Houston-Lufkin highway.

Early in the afternoon the weather bureau pinpointed the storm center as east-northeast of Waco. But Waco itself had only .21 inch of rain and wanted more.

Fifty miles north of Houston at Cleveland, 11 inches of rain fell before noon and continued. The same total was reported northwest of Houston at Cypress-Fairbanks.

West of Houston, at Barker, 7.3 inches were reported.

Farm agents in the rain-swept area said pastures will have ample moisture now. Most reported cotton and other row crops benefited.

A welcome by-product of the rain, first in six weeks for many sections, was a lowering of intense July heat.

The new Houston reservoir on the San Jacinto River, Lake Houston, rose above 28 feet after having dropped almost to 25 feet during the recent dry heat wave.

Sandoz was serving a four-year sentence for simple burglary and assisting in an escape after completing a three-year term, also for simple burglary.

Czechs Grant Asylum To Young Boston Scientist, Sought By Draft Board

LONDON, Saturday, July 31 (AP) — American scientist Joseph Cort and his wife sailed aboard a Polish freighter early today, London port authorities reported, to seek asylum in Red Czechoslovakia.

Parliament was told yesterday that the 26-year-old Bostonian and professed ex-Communist, who did not want to go home to explain his failure to report for the military draft, had been granted asylum by Czechoslovakia.

Dr. Cort and his 28-year-old wife Ruth went aboard the Polish ship Jaroslaw Dabrowski yesterday and it sailed from Brown's Wharf in the heart of London at 1:15 a.m. today.

Earlier it had been thought he might already be behind the Iron Curtain. He and his wife left their Birmingham home on July 21 after Britain had refused to consider him a political refugee and had canceled his British residence permit, effective today.

Laborite A. Wedgwood Benn challenging the government's handling of the case, read in the House of Commons a letter from the tall, bespectacled scientist who had been teaching physiology at Birmingham University more than a year while his wife practiced at a Birmingham hospital.

"Ruth and I are going to Czechoslovakia," the letter said. "We are very grateful to the Czechoslovakian government for granting us asylum and making it possible for us to carry on our medical research.

"We leave with feelings of warmth and gratitude to the British people who have treated us so hospitably and have supported us so strongly in our efforts to remain in England."

In another letter which came to light today, Cort told the National Council for Civil Liberties, a private organization which professes to be nonpolitical, "My wife and I have left England for Czechoslovakia."

The NCCL and some Laborites had backed the teacher, wanted in the United States to give his reasons for failing to heed a draft notice in March 1953.

Cort denied draft dodging at a news conference June 12. He said he had been declared physically unfit after registering in 1948 and that legal advisers told him the 1953 call was not binding on him in Britain.

Cort said he studied at Harvard and at the Yale Medical School and was a member of the Communist party for two years as a medical student, but got out in 1951. He came to England on a scholarship and stayed on. If forced to return to the United States, he said, he faced "lack of employment . . . loss of citizenship and 5 to 10 years in prison."

Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe refused in Parliament July 8 to change the order requiring Cort to get out.

'I'll Kill You'

Residential Area Here Terrorized Enraged Drunk

A drunken, raving 35-year-old man terrorized an entire Monroe residential block late Friday afternoon, hurled "I'll-kill-you" threats to a lone woman occupant of one home, and crashed his fist through screening and glass windows of the woman's home before police carried him screaming to St. Francis sanatarium for treatment of ripped arteries in the man's hand and arm.

Witnesses told police last night that the man, later identified as Conrad M. Blalock, Winston Salem, N. C., in Monroe visiting relatives, was seen attempting to crash into homes along south Eighth street in Monroe at about 4 p.m. Friday. They reported that the man "tried to enter every house on the block, and later moved on to the 900 area."

Police were summoned and Patrolmen M. E. Whittington and David Autley found the man at 910 south Eighth, huddled inside an incompleted house, nursing a profusely bleeding right arm. Officers clamped a tourniquet on the arm and sent the man for treatment via Mulhearn ambulance.

Later, investigation showed that Blalock had begun his foray at the home of M. R. Southard, 800 south Eighth, but had failed to enter. He damaged the front and rear doors ad windows of the house before moving on to the next building. The Southards are away on vacation.

Minutes later he began screaming and tearing at the front door of the W. H. Holly residence on the same street, then raced to the rear door where he yelled to Mrs. Holly "I'll kill you when I get in there," neighbors said. Mrs. Holly was home alone at the time.

Witnesses said Blalock struck repeated blows at the screen and window, but failed to gain entrance.

Abolition Of Public Schools To Be Weighed

Gov. White Says Negroes Ready To Fight Segregation

JACKSON, Miss., July 30 (AP)—The Mississippi Legislature will go into special session Sept. 7 to consider a proposed amendment to the state constitution allowing public schools to be abolished if necessary to keep segregation.

Gov. Hugh White announced the date after the Legal Educational Advisory Committee closed ranks that threatened to split during a hot meeting late today.

LEAC members again approved the amendment after they were convinced that "segregation by consent" will not work in Mississippi.

The group's action was a slap at 90 Negroes who met with it this morning. The majority of the Negroes said they would not support any attempt to dodge the U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools.

Many of the Negroes said they would actively fight any such attempts.

LEAC hoped the Negroes would cooperate in keeping segregation despite the Supreme Court's decision if they were given equal schools or somthing near it.

They were convinced otherwise today.

The special legislative session will be limited to the one question: The constitutional amendment.

Gov. White said it probably would last two weeks.

If the amendment passes the Legislature and is approved by the people, the LEAC pledged itself again today to support a building program to take away some of the Negroes discontent.

The amendment is viewed as a club over the Negroes' heads, a threat to cooperate or lose public schools.

A two-thirds vote on the legislature would be required to end the public school system. Schools could be abolished on a statewide or local option basis.

If abolished, which the LEAC emphatically declared would be a last resort, some system of private schools with state aid probably would be set up.

The LEAC threatened to split in its approval of the amendment today as two members questioned the wisdom of it, and one ex-

More Showers For Today Predicted

After a mid-afternoon downpour yesterday afternoon that cooled the Twin Cities to one of the lowest maximum daily temperatures in many weeks, the weatherman came out with a prediction of more showers for today.

The maximum temperature yesterday was 91 degrees; low for the day was recorded at 72 degrees by C. A. A. at Selman Field. Rainfall for yesterday's cloud burst downtown was generally believed to be more than the .17 inches recorded at Selman Field.

Abolition Of

pressed doubt that the people would approve it.

Gov. White and Speaker of the House Walter Sillers ended the danger in bitter speeches, saying the Negroes' attitude left no alternative.

Gov. White had hoped stronger than most LEAC members that the Negroes would cooperate, based partly on talks with eight Negro leaders that led directly to today's larger meeting.

The meeting today which he called changed his mind.

"I have believed until the last few days," he told the LEAC, "that a certain element of Negroes would go along with us.

"I have come to the definite conclusion you couldn't put your faith and trust in them on this question," he said bitterly.

"They're all just as wound up together as they could be. I have lost confidence."

Speaker Sillers said that instead of the 95 per cent of Negro leaders being on the whites' side as some LEAC members thought, "it's reversed to 99 per cent against us."

Both he and Gov. White said the eight Negroes who met with the governor betrayed their word given in that first meeting that they would support separate but equal schools.

"If the NAACP can change these men, don't you know they can change the Negroes in the country," he demanded. LEAC members nodded.

The "change" Sillers mentioned came, he said, at a meeting of Negroes last night that adopted a resolution read before the large meeting today. In it, the meeting of Negroes asked the state leadership to "endorse and uphold" the Supreme Court's decision. The eight Negroes signed the resolution, Sillers said.

The LEAC was created by the 1954 Legislature to find ways to dodge the court's decision, not uphold it.

Sillers cautioned, "let's don't get inflamed over it, but let's think about it."

Then he urged final approval of the constitutional amendment adopted at a previous meeting. His talk and Gov. White's comments sealed the threatened split.

Tom Tubb of West Point, chairman of the State Democratic Executive committee, started the discussion that threatened to split the committee by commenting there was a great amount of opposition to the amendment over the state and said "it looks like it might have rough sailing."

He questioned whether it should be submitted to a vote of the people.

tinguished senator from Vermont," Dirksen demanded. "The Communist party got in bed with him.

"Senator Flanders and the Daily Worker are on the same side."

The Illinois senator waved copies of the Daily Worker, of the Communist party's recently adopted official program, and of mimeographed sheets he said were distributed by the Labor Youth League, "an affiliate of the Communist party."

He read from all of them to show they spoke of the "menace of McCarthyism" and "the grave danger of fascism" through activities of the Wisconsin senator.

When Dirksen spoke of a great multitude against "a humble senator," there was a burst of laughter from spectators.

McCarthy, grinning, held up thumb and forefinger in an "ok" sign to Dirksen.

After Dirksen finished his speech, the Senate recessed at 10:15 p.m., EDT, until 10 a.m. tomorrow.

McCarthy went up to Dirksen and shook his hand. So did Sen. Welker (R -Idaho) and several others.

Flanders stood alone in his seat in the rear of the chamber for a minute or two, then Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) went over and joshed with him.

Sen. Flanders' resolution reads: "Resolved, that the conduct of the senator from Wisconsin, Joseph R. McCarthy, is unbecoming a member of the United States Senate, is contrary to senatorial traditions, and tends to bring the Senate into disrepute, and such conduct is hereby condemned."

In presenting it Flanders made a speech charging that McCarthy, "however informally," is on the same grounds as "Fifth Amendment Communists" for having refused to answer questions a Senate subcommittee raised a year and a half ago about his integrity and financial affairs.

Flanders also accused the Wisconsin senator of "habitual contempt for people" and responsibility for compromising the honor of the Senate and the nation.

The remark about contempt for people brought Sen. Welker (R-Idaho) to his feet in protest. He said McCarthy does not look with contempt on human beings, but has a wide love for them.

Texan Fined $24,000 On Hot Oil Charge

DALLAS, July 30 (AP)—Federal Judge Whitfield Davidson fined Norman Fitzgerald of Abilene $24,000 today on "hot oil" charges.

The Abilene oil man and geologist pleaded no contest. The government accused him of running an estimated $310,000 of oil illegally from two Runnels County fields.

Former Gov. Dan Moody told Davidson Fitzgerald meant no wrong and is "a man of good character." U.S. Atty. Heard Floore opposed the no contest plea.

a demand for their withdrawal."

The Goa District of 1,348 square miles and 541,000 people, 250 miles south of Bombay, is the heart of Portuguese India. Portugal's Antonio de Oliveira Salazar has said he will not even discuss relinquishing this Indian foothold, which dates back to 1510.

Indian Prime Minister Nehru has demanded merger of both the Portuguese holdings and the two French colonies of Pondichery and Karikal with India. The French have recently quietly abandoned two tiny colonial pockets, Mahe and Yanaon. Pro-Indian groups have taken control, though the Nehru government has not formally recognized the changeover.

India closed her legation in Lisbon in June 1953, blaming Portugal's refusal to discuss the future of Portuguese India. But the two nations still maintain diplomatic relations.

beings and the territory they inhabit, and that only land forces can achieve and maintain such domination."

Ridgway said that modern superweapons may be "balanced out" because both sides have them. He said there may be "mutual fear of retaliation in kind" that prevents their use.

Or, he said, if "no decision was reached," after such weapons were expended, the balance would be tipped to the side with superiority in conventional forces.

He said Germany was defeated in both world wars only when its armed forces were crushed. He said Japans armies, air forces and fleets were destroyed in the Pacific campaigns, rather than by air bombing of the home islands and use of the A-bomb.

First E. Carroll Bale Ready To Gin

LAKE PROVIDENCE, July 30 (Special)—The first bale of cotton picked this year in East Carroll Parish is scheduled to be ginned at Transylvania at 10 a.m. tomorrow. The bale, consisting of 1800 pounds of seed cotton, was from the East Carroll Parish prison farm. It is of the D-P-L-15 variety.

Kiley Mangum, superintendent of the farm, estimated that the 204 acres planted to cotton will yield at least a bale and a half per acre. The farm has 1,000 acres under cultivation.

Car Dynamited In Elizabeth Strife; Is 42nd Destroyed

OAKDALE, La., July 30 (AP)—City police today investigated the dynamiting of a paper mill worker's automobile as violence broke out again in the Elizabeth paper mill strike.

City policeman J. K. Lucius said eight to 12 sticks of dynamite were used in last night's blast which destroyed an automobile owned by Gervis Cloud, an employe of the strike-torn Calcasieu Paper Mill in nearby Elizabeth.

Lucius said no one was reported injured in the blast which occurred minutes after Cloud left his car to go to a movie.

Lucius said only the car's chassis remained after the blast. He said he thought the dynamite was placed inside the car instead of beneath the automobile.

There have been more than 150 acts of violence, including shotgun blasts into workers' homes, since the strike broke out in September, 1952.

The explosion last night was the 42nd automobile to be destroyed by dynamiting.

The strike at the Calcasieu Paper Mill and the jointly-owned Southern Industries, Inc., owned by C. C. McGehee of Jacksonville, Fla., arose out of a contract dispute between the plants and two unions, the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, and the International Brotherhood of Papermakers, both AFL-affiliated.

This church, with but 396 members, is 130 years old and in spite of a decrease in the town's population has increased its membership this current year.

Honorable mention went to Georgia's Chestnut Mountain Presbyterian Church, All Souls Community Church, Scott, Ark.; and to St. Matthew's Parish Episcopal church in South Carolina.

A rural minister also was honored. Dr. Henry B. Trimble, dean emeritus of Emory's Candler school of theology was named "Rural Minister of the South."

"Dear Jes' Ramblin':

"Here is the highlight of the chess tournament at the "Y" this week, when Ralph Harkey met Vance Harrelson. Both fought hard and the first game went to Harrelson, but only after a tough battle. In the second game, Harrelson played a keen game and checkmated his opponent in six moves to eliminate him from the tournament.

"The real battle came when the two West Monroe Harrelson boys were matched for the runoff. The battle went nip and tuck all the way and ultimately was won by Glen Harrelson. The highlight of the game came when in the finals a hard game was played by the Harrelsons. Victory came to Glen Harrelson after a hard and wonderful battle. Now the junior chess champion of the Twin Cities is Glen Harrelson and second place was won by the younger Harrelson.

"The next tournament will be tricity match, Monroe West Monroe, and Shreveport when the city chaps will play Ben Flanagan, 11-year-old Shreveport chess champ.

"The tournament was slowed down by lack of players and was ended after the first day."

"Yours truly,

"George R. Cuterer.

Pair Flushed From Auto By Businessmen

A Monroe Dairy Queen proprietor, twice the victim of burglars during the past month, said he spotted two young Negro youths crouched in the rear seat of his car Thursday night, flushed them from their hiding place, and possibly averted a third and more vicious robbery.

K. P. Houston, operator of the Louisville Dairy Queen, said he caught a glimpse of the two youths as he approached his automobile enroute home from his business at about 10:55 p.m. Thursday.

Progress Reported On Atomic-Powered Airplane

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission reported today the nation's arsenal of nuclear weapons is "growing rapidly." It indicated progress toward creation of an atomic-engined airplane and said the first fission-fed engine for a submarine is almost ready.

The information in the semiannual report, covering the six months ended last June, was half-hidden behind the usual generalized language of the AEC.

Thus it commented that the rapidly growing stockpile "reflects a trend of increased variety and versatility of weapons." This meant that the numbers of mighty fission and thermonuclear bombs for destroying cities and of smaller packaged A-bombs and shells for fighting on the battlefield are mounting.

Paralleling since 1950 the standard fission-process bomb development has been "concerted development effort on thermonuclear weapons," said the AEC in talking briefly about H-bombs.

The program for development of a nuclear-engined airplane "continued," said the report. But it also revealed that the program now has moved out of the field of theory and mathematical calculations into the testing of actual devices to go into an eventual engine.

At the Oak Ridge, Tenn., laboratory four 234-foot steel towers have been built for suspension of a test reactor and its shielding, the AEC said. By this device high above the ground, simulated conditions of shielding in an actual airplane can be studied. Unofficial reports have indicated that both new materials and new methods for protecing plane crews from radiation produced by the atomic engine have been developed. One suggested method has been to use two shielded compartments, with substantial space between them, one containing the reactor, the other the plane crew.

Three companies are working under contract on the nuclear plane propulsion program—General Electric, Carbide & Carbon Chemical Co. and the Pratt & Whitney division of United Aircraft Corp., said AEC.

The AEC's work on the atomic power plant for the submarine Nautilus, launched last January, was nearing completion, the report said. (The Nautilus is expected to go into operation this fall). A test-type plant like that to be used in the second A-submarine, the Sea Wolf," is "nearly completed." And development is going forward on still a third type of atomic engine "suitable for a high-performance submarine."

The report also dealt with the troubles that arose out of the giant explosion of a hydrogen bomb in a test last March 1 on Bikini. Radioactive dust, caught by an unexpected wind, settled on Marshall Islanders, some American nationals and some Japanese fishermen.

It also disclosed that there was enough radioactive strength left in the fall-out when it passed over the United States to leave detectable traces in the bodies of some people. However, the amount was so small and harmless that it could be discovered only by analysis with delicate measuring instruments.

The Marshallese and American nationals who were dusted lightly in areas bordering the proving ground suffered no permanent harm, said the Commission. And the Japanese fishermen are reported by Japanese physicians "to be improving satisfactorily" from radiation burns.

Senate Rejects Proposal To Kill Foreign Aid And Use Money For Aircraft

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—The Senate rejected 81-7 today a proposal by Sen. Malone (R-Nev) to kill the foreign aid program and invest its accumulated billions in American military aircraft.

Malone offered his plan as an amendment to the $3,700,000,000 foreign aid authorization bill, now nearing a final vote.

He estimated the Foreign Operations Administration had $9,979,000,000 in unspent funds from previous appropriations. With the $3,100,000,000 in new money President Eisenhower is asking for the current fiscal year, Malone said, $13,079,000,000 would be available for building an invincible Air Force.

The Nevadan estimated his plan would give the nation an additional 2,000 heavy jet bombers and 3,000 jet interceptor planes.

He argued for it in a speech which lasted several hours but on the vote got the support of only six other Republicans—Senators Bricker (Ohio), Jenner (Ind), Langer and Young (ND), McCarthy (Wis) and Welker (Idaho).

Officials said that while FOA has large unspent funds, most of them are already obligated and military items are under construction.

The Senate accepted another Malone amendment, however, when it refused to approve the use of foreign aid funds to stimulate production of strategic materials abroad.

Overriding the administration, it voted 49-40 on a roll call to remove the program from the aid bill.

Malone contended any such investment in other parts of the world "promotes our own destruction." He said critical materials developed in this fashion would not be available to the United States in case of war. Malone is a long-time advocate of building up such domestic industries as the metal mines of the West.

Majority Leader Knowland of California argued in vain that the section was permissive, not mandatory, and was intended to meet situations where the domestic supply of strategic materials was inadequate.

Twenty-eight Republicans, 20 Democrats and Sen. Morse of Oregon, an independent, voted for the Malone amendment. Eighteen Republicans and 22 Democrats opposed it.

Sen. Smathers (D-Fla) won adoption of an amendment to add 10 million dollars to the development program for Latin America. The vote, marking the first increase in the size of the bill since it came out of the Foreign Relations Committee, was 86-2.

Supporting the change, Sen. Holland (D-Fla) said he had received reports there are "weak places" in several South American countries where "the same thing that happened in Guatemala could happen again."

Holland said Communists are infiltrating areas that are underdeveloped and where poverty exists.

Discarded Tires Used In Fight On Anthrax Outbreak

BATON ROUGE, July 30 (AP) — Discarded rubber tires, once used to safeguard life on Louisiana highways, will be used once again to protect residents of three parishes against disease.

Agriculture Commissioner Dave L. Peace said Friday that the Louisiana Department of Highways had agreed to turn over to him "several hundred" worn-out tires which will be used to burn the carcasses of animals dead of anthrax in Plaquemines, Jefferson and St. Bernard parishes.

The epidemic in the three parishes south and east of New Orleans has killed more than 500 cattle and horses in recent weeks. A strict quarantine clamped on by the Louisiana Livestock Sanitary Board, an agency of the Agriculture Department, has halted the movement of livestock out of the area.

"Since anthrax is carried by insects, especially horseflies," Pearce said, "it is necessary to destroy the carcasses of dead animals to prevent the further spread of the disease.

Peace said carcasses also could be destroyed by deep burial but in many places in the affected parishes the water table is too high for such disposal.

House Votes To Double Hardwood Import Duties

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—Over opposition claims that it violated trade agreements, the House today passed a bill doubling the import tax on hardboard.

A roll-call vote of 235 to 109 sent the bill to the Senate.

The bill fixes the duty on imported hardboard at 16 and two-thirds per cent ad valorem by classifying it as a wood product instead of a paper product. It prohibits any reduction in the rate through trade agreements, and fixes the rate at 33 and one-half per cent for hardboard imported from Communist-controlled countries.

Hardboard now is classified as a paper product, with the duty varying from 7½ and one-half per cent, to 15 per cent, depending on quality. Most of it comes under the lower rate. Almost all imported hardboard comes from Sweden, Finland and Canada, but domestic production has increased steadily since 1940.

The bill's sponsors claimed it was necessary to encourage American industry and protect labor from competition with cheaply-produced imports.

Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn) opposed it as "a violation of trade agreements we have entered into," while Rep. Javits (R-NY) said it would subject domestic users to a monopoly. Javits told the House the Masonite Corporation controls 70 per cent of the hardboard production.

Hardboard is a board usually smooth-surfaced on one side and screen-marked on the other. It is made from cellulose fibers.

Rep. Colmer (D-Miss), one of the sponsors of the bill, told the House the measure was in the nature of a corrective act to classify hardboards properly for tariff purposes.

The tariff act, he said, already had been passed when the hardboard process came into existence and "there was no importation, there was nothing to be concerned about."

"But now that the whole industry of hardboard as such has expanded worldwide of this very patented process, it has become a domestic problem," he said.

Colmer said he has supported the reciprocal trade policy but added "if we are going largely to support the rest of the world by taxpayers' money, we have got to permit somebody in this country to make some money to pay the taxes; and as much as we want to help these people, we have got to protect our domestic industry to some extent."

He told the House that the economy of Jones County and several others in Mississippi have been losers as the result of hardboard imports.

"In my own district where the finest quality of all hardboards, masonite, originated, the effects of these imports have been substantial."

Jos. T. Meek's Candidacy Wins Ike's Backing

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP) — President Eisenhower today came out for Joseph T. Meek, Republican candidate for the Senate in Illinois, and thus got into one of the hottest state campaigns of this election year.

The move came as a surprise in some political circles in view of the President's repeated statements that he would not participate in campaigns of individual GOP candidates for Congress.

Eisenhower's endorsement was in response to a statement by Meek that the President could count on his "loyalties and my support as the junior senator from Illinois." This also attracted much interest since Meek had apparently been unwilling to go that far in campaign statements to date.

Meek will oppose Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas in the November election.

The president's endorsement was given in a letter dated July 27, four days after Meek, 50 year old former head of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations, pledged his suport to Eisenhower. The exchange of letters was made public at the White House.

Press Secretary James T. Hagerty, when asked whether this did not mean the President was participating in a local campaign, something Eisenhower said he would avoid in making pre-election speeches about his program.

Quadruplets Born To Negro Couple; Two Of Them Die

PITTSBURGH, July 30 (AP)—The wife of a $40-50-a-week Negro plasterer gave birth this morning to quadruplets—a boy and three girls—but by nightfall, two of the tiny children died.

They were born to Mrs. Ruth Hurd, 25, at Magee Hospital. The boy, tentatively named Jerry Harvey, died just 7 hours and 25 minutes after his birth. Later in the afternoon, his sister, known only as "baby D" also died.

An aunt had suggested the names Janet Elaine, Jill Carol and Jacqueline Sue for the girls. But "baby D" didn't live long enough for anyone to say which name was hers. She died at 4:40 p.m.

The boy was the largest of the children, just over two pounds. Hospital officials estimated the total weight at about eight pounds.

Dr. Hilda Kroeger, administrator of the hospital, said the two remaining girls were doing as well as could be expected for such small babies.

The father, Rudolph, 28, was astonished and overjoyed when the multiple birth occurred, but the deaths dimmed his happiness. The Hurds are also parents of an 18-month-old boy, Ellsworth. The mother is doing well, the hospital said.

The girls are being cared for in a new type incubator, which uses warm air with high humidity. The incubators cloud up with the warmth and dampness, and the children can barely be seen through the glass walls. The method is used to lessen the danger of infection.

Hurd said as he looked over his new family:

"I guess I better find a better job. You can't raise a big family making $40-50 a week.

"What worries me most is where are we going to live? My wife and I gave up our apartment a couple of months ago. She stayed with her mother in Donora, Pa., until she went into the hospital."

WCC—Some Books To Read And—Things To Consider

PART IV

In the past three issues, The Morning World has attempted to point out the erroneous thinking underlying many ministers' attitude toward Marxism. This thinking has never been so apparent as regards the meeting to come of the World Council of Churches. "Ministers" from behind the Iron Curtain will attend at the insistence of other American ministers who seem to feel that these apologists for Marxism are true Christians.

Such an assumption is completely fallacious. The Communists hold that there is no such thing as religion. They state explicitly that there is no God. Their actions since 1917 have been vivid proof that they do not regard humans as individuals nor do they regard the presence of moral law as based on God's great Commandments.

Marxism is a purely scientific, materialistic concept of the human. Earl Browder, at one time the American Communist leader, stated specifically that, "Communists do not distinguish between good and bad religions, because we think they are all bad."

What many people cannot seem to understand is that the Marxists aim to control the human mind even while it is asleep. They seek to control mind and body in all phases of human activity. To that end, it must work against religion. Communism could never dominate family life until it has successfully overcome religious influence on the family. What it cannot successfully destroy in a head-on clash, it removes, infiltrates and destroys from within.

Communism cannot force its own brand of scientific materialism on a person until it has successfully destroyed his personal concept of morality. Communism cannot make education of the younger minds a pliable tool in its hands unless it can first overcome religious teachings at home and in school. That is why The Morning World has asked that God be returned to all the classrooms of the nation as the only successful bulwark against the Communists.

It will be impossible for a successful Communist revolution to come to pass until the Marxists can remake the lives of people. It is impossible for these ministers to come and preach that there can be a successful meeting of the minds of Christians and Communists. Such is impossible. These tactics are examples of the Bolshevik-Marxist Trojan horse.

Evanston, Illinois will be the scene of the Bolshevik Trojan horse being wheeled into American religious life.

Should the success of the Marxist state ever come about in the United States, you would have to choose between Communism and the Church. Should you choose the Church, you would face death or severe persecution. The Church is the basis of all Moral Law. The Communists must eradicate this bulwark in their path. The record of the Communists indicate that they will destroy the Bible and arrest anyone attempting to publish more copies. Your children would go to state schools where positive atheism would be taught. They would be taught to report you should you attempt to teach them of Jesus Christ and God.

Lenin taught, "Down with religion! The spread of atheistic views is our task." Marx taught that "anything is moral" if it helps the revolution. That includes lying, cheating, stealing and murder. Therefore, these "ministers" from Communism see nothing amiss as regards their "morals" even though they are attempting to destroy the very religion they supposedly preach.

MARX TAUGHT THAT GOD SHOULD NOT BE FEARED BECAUSE HE DOES NOT EXIST. Do these Marxist ministers who seek to compare Jesus and God with Marx realize these aspects of the situation? If they do, why do they countenance the Communist "Ministers"? If they do, why do they seek to compare Communism with the Christian religion?

The Russian Communists have for various periods, "tolerated" religion because such "toleration" suited their purposes. They also "tolerated" private enterprise for a time. When the entrepreneurs had helped the Bolshevik state get on "its feet," they were exterminated. The same will hold true for religion.

In the United States, the Communists teach, ". . . by going among religious masses, we are for the first time, able to bring our religious ideas to them." The Communist party of the United States assigns members to join churches and church organizations. This they do in order to take control of the organizations wherever possible and to influence their thoughts and actions.

The party has front organizations designed to attract "fellow travelers" with religious interests. Many of these will be in attendance in Evanston if preliminary reports are correct. The party attempts to get prominent religious leaders to support certain policies as advocated by the Communists cleverly designed to "resemble Christian principles."

Those who fail to realize the effect of Communist hate against religion should read "Goodbye Christ," by Langston Hughes.

Communists make plans in their organizational meetings to destroy religion, but to use it where necessary. Communists attempt to get their writers on the staffs of religious magazines, their speakers are sent to the various seminaries and young Communists are ordered to join church youth organizations. They are ordered to join because the Communists realize that in young minds, there is a chance for victory. By the method of propaganda, advertising, promotion the Communists today are attempting to make of themselves, better Christians than the Christians themselves. The World Council of Churches meeting soon to be held in Evanston, Illinois would seem to offer them the chance.

The Morning World recommends that every American acquaint himself with the problem of the Communists in the Church. There are ten pamphlets issued by the House Committee on un-American activities which you should read. You can get them by sending a letter of request to the Committee on un-American Activities, House Office Building, Washington, D. C. The titles are as follows:

"100 Things You Should Know About Communism;" "Guide To Subversive Organiaztions and Publications;" "The Communist Peace Offensive;" "Testimony Concerning Communist Activities in Cincinnati, Ohio Area, Part One;" "Testimony of Rev. Stephens A. Fritchman;" "Investigation of Communist Activities In The New York Area," Parts Six, Seven and Eight, "Testimony of John Edgar Hoover, 1947;" "Hearings For Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam;" "The Methodist Federation For Social Action;" "Testimony of Reverend Jack McMichael."

Tomorrow, The World will conclude this series by dealing with American organizations connected with the World Council, their past activities and the Ten Commandments of Marxism.

George Sokolsky

THESE DAYS

The Cover-Up

The Jenner committee has been holding a prolonged series of hearings on the subject of revising current methods of holding congressional hearings or perhaps establishing rules, by legislation, by which all congressional committees will be required to abide. Many senators, representatives and delegates from public organizations presented their ideas before the Jenner committee and much of it is tripe.

Reading the testimony has been a more than usually difficult chore because few of those who testified had anything constructive to say and I fear that some of them only appeared because they hoped to attract a headline. Some of the suggestions, if adopted, could only have served to prevent hearings from taking place at all. However, Senator Charles Potter of Michigan, who has gained considerable attention by voting with the Democrats in the McCarthy committee, made a point which is worthy of comment:

"I do not believe that rules in themselves insure an effective, efficient and fair investigation. I have seen committees with lax rules conduct excellent investigations. I have seen committees with excellent rules conduct investigations which did not approach the standards expected. We must recognize that the element of personality is an important factor in congressional committees . . ."

This is altogether true because the conduct of a hearing depends entirely upon the chairman, who has great authority if he wishes to use it. When Senator Tom Walsh presided over the committee that investigated the Teapot Dome Scandal, he pushed his committee work forward to a conclusion. His associate, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, stood out so that today only Walsh and Wheeler are remembered in connection with this committee. It requires research to recall others on the committee. On the other hand, the Nye committee was entirely controlled by its staff, which included a large number of Communists. One of the most disreputable committees of the Congress was that headed by Hugo Black, who, nevertheless, became an associate justice of the Supreme Court which so outraged public opinion at the time that President Roosevelt had to deliver his Quarantine Speech to take the sting out of the news of Black's appointment.

There can be no question but that the McCarthy committee, of which Mr. Potter is a member, has been managed entirely by Senator McCarthy with which idea Mr. Potter went along for more than a year. The Democratic members of this committee retired from it for some months, objecting to McCarthy's procedures, but no Republican member of the committee challenged Senator McCarthy's solo management until after January of this year when the White House objected to the Wisconsin senator's apparent competition for party leadership. This was the essential issue in the recent McCarthy-Stevens hearing, which might more correctly be termed, the McCarthy-Sherman Adams conflict.

During the preliminary quarrels which led to the open break between Senator McCarthy and the White House, a proposal was made to the senator, of which I knew at the time, that in his investigations of government departments, he hold only Executive sessions, in secrecy and in silence so far as the public is concerned, and that whatever he learned be placed at the disposal of the White House.

This proposal was rejected. After all, the Committee on Investigations exists by act of Congress to uncover, to disclose, to expose wrong - doing in the executive branch of the government.

Senator Potter has now come up with the same proposal in his statement before the Jenner committee:

"Knowing the Chief Executive desires wholeheartedly to cooperate with the legislative branch, I believe it would be highly desirable if the President designated a personal representative to receive the findings of investigating committees and act upon them. The committee concerned should then be advised of the action taken. In my opinion, this would unquestionably make for a greater degree of effective cooperation between the legislative and executive branches.

"If the committee is not satisfied with the action taken by the executive branch, it may then proceed with a full scale investigation and hearing."

This means nothing more than the cover-up.

A Confidant

Young people, those in their later teens, need a confidant, a person who can be a loyal friend, a sound counselor, who never belittles a young person's troubles nor talks about them in gossiping fashion.

It is strange how some grown-up people forget that there was a time when the world and its ways were unknown, mysterious, often threatening forces in their lives. Odd how they forget that there was a time when they did not know as much about as many things as they do now. It would help them and the young people who are close to them if once in a while they held communion with their youth. They would be tendered a bit, and be more sympathetic.

Boys and girls of to-day have a wider field of interests than their grandparents, even their fathers, had in their days. Our present generation were born into a world of cars, radio, speed, scientific knowledge all of which, wonderful and magical and dangerous to us, they take as a matter of course. They were all here when they came, just as the horses and the hand tools were in our day. They look at today's mechanized life as we looked on that older way.

A boy and a girl in their teens can drive a car, a tractor, use a motor-driven machine, with the same skill and confidence that we once used in handling a team, a racing sulky, an axe. Because of our different background we have fear where the young people have none. This causes many a conflict between youth and age. There must be trust on both sides if there is to be harmony in the family.

But conflicts do arise. Young people are puzzled and troubled by the conflicting ideas about what they should and should not do. Home says "No driving". School and society says, "You'd better learn now when you are young and your reactions are sure and quick." Home says, "None of this going steady. You're too young," yet society, the people of the town, take the coupling of young people as a matter of course. The Girl likes a Boy. The Boy likes a Girl. Of course. The same change of speed that has affected our way of work and pleasure has made its way in this field, too. There must be mutual trust and confidence if peace is to swell in the house.

This is where the confidant comes in. Some mature man or woman whom the child trusts, who listens, is silent, offers a word of advice in season, is needed. Parents should encourage this friendship and not be jealous of it.

Strange as it may seem many boys and girls cannot go to their parents with the problems that trouble them. An outsider can help where their fathers and mothers cannot.

The Talkathon

The Senate filibuster is here to stay. That is the king size filibuster where senators are held in session day and night for 80 hours or more, while the legislative program jams up like a main highway on a national holiday.

The most recent talkathon has demonstrated beyond per adventure of a doubt that efforts to stop debate by a cloture rule are futile, so long as one group, however small has the wind and the words to oppose force on the part of a majority.

Use of the word force calls to mind that the first major filibuster, called "the most dramatic of all time" was directed against the Force bill in 1890 when southern senators filibustered for 29 days to kill the measure, which would have meant federal supervision of elections in the south.

At other times, southern senators have filibustered effectively against anti - lynching, anti poll tax and fair employment measures. There have been famous filibusters including those in 1917 against President Wilson's proposal for the arming of merchant vessels, in 1919 against the Versailles treaty and in 1926 against the World Court protocol.

Knowland had little choice in his decision to jam through the atomic energy bill, since the administration had refused brusquely to listen to any suggestions of compromise. He could have held up the bill until near the end of the session, but then the Senate calendar would be so crowded with strongly pressed legislation that the fate of the atomic energy measure would be as uncertain as in debating it in regular turn.

The pressure exerted by private business to keep the AEC bill on the regular track was reminiscent of the overriding of President Truman's veto of an omnibus internal security in September 1950. Then business and veterans' organizations and some other anti-Communist views, demanding that the veto be overridden prevailed over a prolonged series of speeches in behalf of the veto, during which Senator William Langer (Rep.-N. D.) spoke until he collapsed and had to be carried off the floor on a stretcher.

The most outspoken foe of filibusters in modern Senate history was Vice President Charles G. Dawes, who in his inaugural address in 1929 denounced the Senate for its "archaic rules" which permitted filibusters.

He referred to the "secondary filibuster," little used now, by which opponents talked for hours against some minor measure on the calendar ahead of that to which their real opposition was directed, in describing a long debate against a local District of Columbia bill, providing the site for a new food market.

"Now the Senate fritters away its time over a place to sell spinach," he wrote.

It has been said of the colorful Dawes, however, that he was much less convinced that the filibuster should be prescribed when he left the Senate after four years.

Senators Huey P. Long (Dem.-La.) and Robert M. LaFollette Sr. (Rep.-Wis.) were two famous filibusterers, who probably enhanced their reputations through their filibustering ability. But one of the longest filibusters was delivered in 1938 by Senator Allen J. Ellender Sr. (Dem.-La.) who spoke for 25 hours against the anti - lynching bill, breaking a record of 18 hours set 30 years before by the elder LaFollette.

Filibustering may seem dull to people reading about it, but a young lady from Denver who sat in the Senate gallery for an hour in the early morning during the recent gabfest, didn't agree.

"It's different when you watch and listen," she said. "I was thrilled to see all those senators so devoted to the nation's business that they would stay up all night."

Congressional Quarterly

Scores Of Commissions Advise On How To Run Government

Washington — Its been a long time since John Q. Citizen has had as many chances to give advice to his government as he has had during the present administration. For the last year and a half administration - appointed citizens advisory groups have been charged, literally by the score, with telling Washington what to do.

A Congressional Quarterly survey shows that citizen advice on policy has been sought in such fields as agriculture, foreign economic program, housing, military reserves, social security, (Taft-Hartley) labor law, and the anti-trust laws.

Many, but by no means all, of these citizen groups have now made reports. How much of their advice is being taken? CQ's study shows the following score for major groups concerned with advice on policy.

Recommendations on Agriculture

The national agricultural advisory commission has advised the secretary of agriculture on flexible price supports, drouth programs, cattle prices, foreign agricultural trade policy, reorganization of the department of agriculture and the plight of the small farmer. President Eisenhower's special message to congress, urging flexible price supports, insulation of surpluses, a new wool program and increased borrowing authority for the Commodity Credit Corporation, was prepared with benefit of the commission's advice. Pending legislation includes these objectives, in modified form.

Foreign Economic Policy

The recommendations of the Randall commission on foreign economic policy, which became the basis of the President's special message to congress in this field, have fared less well than the advice on agriculture. One of the major recommendations of the Randall commission was extension for three years of the reciprocal trade agreements act. Congress voted only a one - year extension. Pending legislation embracing other commission recommendations would provide improved customs valuation methods, increase the amount of goods importable duty-free by returning American tourists.

Housing Policies

Fifty-two recommendations were made by the 21 - member advisory committee on government housing policies and programs. Of these the President's special message to congress included facilitation of some slum clearance and improvements in existing housing, reorganization for low - income families, and the revamping of some federal housing mechanisms. Both houses passed an omnibus housing bill but their versions differed. The proposed compromise on public housing would reduce considerably the President's program, and he said July 21 he may have to send up another request next year.

Universal Military Training

Universal military training was studied by the national security training commission, while another citizen group, the advisory committee on manpower resources for national security, weighed the impact of military manpower procurement on the supply of personnel for other security needs. The NSTC proposed training for 18-year-olds parallel with the draft; the manpower resources group outlined a plan for an immediately callable and selective reserve. On the basis of the findings of these two groups, the Pentagon submitted plans for a complete overhaul of the reserve policy. Executive branch approval has not yet been announced and pending submission of a new program, the senate armed services committee is holding up work on a bill, passed by the house in 1953, covering some aspects of the reserve policy.

Social Security

Methods of extending the coverage of the social security act were studied by the advisory consultants on social security. Their findings were utilized by the President in his special message to congress. In the house, the lawmakers have voted to increase coverage. The senate hasn't acted.

Other Groups

Many of the advisory groups were set up by executive order. Others were established by statute. Some groups include senators or representatives among their members, and some are instructed to report to congress. Since the Eisenhower administration began, lawmakers are serving or have served on groups advising on both policy and government structure.

Tax Revision Bill Affects You This Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are some of the ways you as an individual taxpayer can benefit through the big tax revision bill now on President Eisenhower's desk for almost certain signature:

DIVIDEND INCOME—If you're a stockholder, you won't have to pay any tax at all on the first $50 of income in dividends. Furthermore, you can take 4 per cent of any dividend income above $50 and deduct that from your tax payment.

MEDICAL EXPENSES — You may deduct medical expenses above 3 per cent of income, instead of 5 per cent as at present. But you must remember that from now on you may only deduct items spent for drugs and medicines above 1 per cent of your income. Also, you can have a total medical deduction of $10,000 for your family; the limit has been $5,0.

RETIREMENT INCOME—You won't have the basic 20 per cent tax rate on the first $1,200 of retirement income received after you pass 65. If you're a retired government employe such as a teacher, fireman or policeman, you can get the benefit even though you're under 65.

WORKING MOTHERS—If you must work to support children under 12 or other dependents, and/or your husband is incapacitated or if the combined income of the family is less than $4,500, you may deduct up to $600 spent for child care.

SOIL CONSERVATION—If you're a farmer putting a lot of money into soil rebuilding, you may deduct these outlays up to 25 per cent of your gross income.

COLLEGE STUDENTS—If you have a child who is under 19 or in college and has a job which pays him more than $600 a year, you may continue to list him as a dependent with a $600 exemption on your return if you pay half of his support.

CHARITIES—You may deduct up to 30 per cent of your income for charitable contributions, instead of 20 as at present.

INSTALLMENT BUYING—You may deduct the carrying charges on such purchases, even though they're not specifically stated as interest in the contract.

HEAD OF HOUSEHOLD—If your husband or wife dies, you may continue for two years to get the full benefit of income splitting as on a joint return.

HEALTH & ACCIDENT PLANS—If you miss work because of an illness or an injury, you are entitled to tax exemption on payments made to you by your employer, up to $100 a week, if they are issued under a regular health and accident plan. The exemption does not apply in the first seven days of an illness, unless you are hospitalized.

DECLARATIONS OF ESTIMATED TAX—If you're married and have up to $10,000 of income practically all of it subject to withholding, you no longer need to file a declaration of estimated tax.

RAPID DEPRECIATION — If you're a businessman or farmer, you may use the new double declining balance method of quick depreciation on a plant or piece of equipment. This means that in the first year of life, you can write off twice the amount for depreciation now allowed; thus you can concentrate most of the write-off in the early years of use of the item.

The accelerated depreciation plan will benefit chiefly corporations. They get other relief, too, including:

More liberal treatment for research expenditures.

Greater freedom to set aside surpluses.

The right to offset a loss against profits of two prior years instead of one as now.

Elimination for utilities of the 2 per cent penalty tax on consolidated returns.

Greatly expanded depletion allowances for mining companies.

A cut-off date of April 1, 1955, for the 52 per cent corporation tax rate, at which time it automatically drops to 47 per cent unless congress continues it again.

Bag Limit Won't Be Set On Ducks Until This Month

Richard Barnes, U. S. game management agent for the Monroe district, said Fri. afternoon that the season and daily bag limit for duck hunting this year has not been announced and "will not be announced until sometime in August. The statement was made yesterday to clear up "any misunderstanding which might have been caused by a previous announcement by the Ouachita Parish chapter of the Louisiana Wildlife Association."

In a story earlier this week, the spokesman for the local chapter, J. B. Thoman, was quoted as saying the association had obtained the hunting dates for ducks which were desired by the association members. The association has requested, Thoman said, certain dates for the hunting season, along with a bag limit of eight ducks. However, this request has not been answered, nor even acknowledged, it was pointed out by the government spokesman.

Barnes said when the government announced the bag limits and hunting seasons for ducks and other migratory wildlife, it will be announced in Washington, D. C., then passed out to various parts of the country.

Labor Board Rules For 'Lockout' On Certain Conditions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board ruled 4-1 today that where a union bargaining jointly with a number of employers strikes against one of them, the others may engage in a "lockout," or voluntary shutdown.

The majority said that in the absence of "any independent evidence of anti-union motivation" the lockout action of other employers is "defensive and privileged in nature, rather than retaliatory and unlawful."

"The calculated purpose of maintaining a strike against one employer and threatening to strike others in the employer group at future times is to cause successive and individual employer capitulations," the majority said.

The decision reversed a doctrine laid down by the former NLRB members under the Truman administration.

The former doctrine was set in the Davis Furniture case, which was overruled by the U.S. Court of Appeals in a decision which the present NLRB voted against appealing to the Supreme Court.

Today's case involved a Buffalo, N. Y., group of laundry supply companies bargaining with the AFL Teamsters Union for laundry truck drivers. The union complained a lockout by other firms when it struck one of them was illegal.

The majority dismissed the complaint, saying that although there was no evidence that the union indicated any intent to spread the srike to the other firms, there was an "implicit threat of future strike action against any or all of the other members of the association."

The dissent was filed by NLRB member Abe Murdock, who accused the majority of piling "inference on inference."

Negro Delivers 'One Case Too Many,' Jailed

A routine liquor delivery trip ended at parish jail for a Negro truck driver Friday, after city police officers watched him deliver "one case too many."

Roy L. Smith, 26-year-old driver for the D.R.S. Beverage Company in Monroe, was booked by police on a charge of theft when Asst. Chief George Wood and Identification Officer L. C. Taylor nabbed the Negro as he deposited the whiskey at his sister's cafe.

Sam Massingale, D.R.S. official, said he observed Smith during the early morning loading operation at the company's warehouse and became suspicious when the Negro counted out one case too many. Massingale asked police to tail the truck for possible evidence of theft.

Smith has been transferred to Ouachita Parish Jail where he remained last night under $750 bond. The whiskey was valued at $74.09.

Bill For Payment Of Texas City Claims Approved

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—The House passed today and sent to the Senate a bill directing the secretary of the army to act on claims against the government as a result of the Texas City, Tex., explosion tragedy on April 16, 1947.

An estimated 60 million dollars in claims is involved in cases which would be considered under the legislation.

The disaster resulted when a French vessel being loaded with nitrate fertilizers being shipped under the foreign aid program caught fire. It took 570 lives and injured 3,500 more persons. Property damage was estimated at 200 million dollars.

Rep. Thompson (D-Tex), author of the bill, told a reporter after the House action he expects the bill to be passed shortly in the Senate.

State Primaries Attracting Fewer Voters This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fewer people are voting in statewide primaries this year compared with the last nonpresidential election year of 1950, despite a bigger voting-age population and vote-stimulating law changes in Alabama and California.

However, major party leaders see no particular significance in the primary totals. They look for a heavy vote in the November congressional and gubernatorial elections.

Forty million voted in 1950's final election, a record for an off-year. The presidential year record —61 million—was set in 1952.

Party chiefs say that fair comparisons cannot be made between 1954 and 1950 primary voting because conditions are different in almost every state. For example, there may have been a hot intra-party contest for Senate or governor in a state last time, drawing a heavy vote, but none this year.

In 16 states for which figures are available the total primary turnout this year was 12,655,498, or 133,253 less than the aggregate for those states in 1950. Twenty-three states have yet to pick candidates.

Ten states showed a total increase over 1950 of 705,937, with Alabama, Texas (Democratic primaries only) and New Jersey accounting for about six-sevenths of the gain. The increase, however, was offset by a total decline of 839,190 in six states, with Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois making up seven-eighths of the drop.

Administration Makes New Moves To Aid Business

WASHINGTON, July 30 —UP— Administration officials are confident that business will improve sharply this fall. But to make doubly sure, they are stepping up federal spending to stimulate business activity.

Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks gave this summary of the Eisenhower administration's economic policy at a news conference Thursday.

At the same time, Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell forecast a rise in employment and a corresponding drop in the number of jobless by September or October.

All indications point to the "employment situation getting better," he told a separate news conference.

Weeks predicted a "real pick-up" in business before winter. But he disclosed an administration program to speed up federal spending to off-set the decrease in defense expenditures which followed the Korean truce. He said its aim was to "nudge" business into greater activity.

Weeks said, however, that is no plan to increase total federal spending during the current fiscal year which began July 1. He said money that would not have been spent until later in the year, will be spent in the earlier months.

The program will apply particularly to construction of highways, civilian airports and ships and textile contracts, he said.

Hotel Astor Sold To Webb & Knapp, And Two Persons

NEW YORK, July 30—UP—The historic Hotel Astor, where Charles Evans Hughes heard the heart-breaking news he had been defeated for the presidency of the United States, was acquired Friday by the giant Webb & Knapp real estate firm and two individuals.

Financial details of the transaction were not disclosed.

The hotel, built in 1903 by William Waldorf Astor, has been a landmark in New York's famous Times Square area for more than half a century.

The two men connected with Webb & Knapp in the deal were Jack D. Weiler, of New York, and Benjamin H. Swig, of San Francisco. They are co-owners of the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco.

The property was purchased from the City Bank Farmers Trust Co., trustee for the Astor estate.

Many Women Lack Skill In Using Lipstick

For some years now, lipstick has been as much a part of a woman's grooming ritual as a comb. So it is natural to think that most of us would be quite proficient in the use of both.

But hair stylists assert that few women comb their hair skillfully. And even a casual observation shows that few are adept at applying lipstick.

Some are too timid to do more than follow the natural outlines of their mouths. Others go in for extreme exaggeration. Still others look as if they apply their lipstick while running for the morning bus.

One widespread tendency is to give the corners of the mouth a downward turn. Yet, it can be easily avoided. All one need do is start applying the color well inside the corners of the mouth.

This is not the solution, of course, for the woman whose mouth is not wide enough. In her case, it's necessary to bring the color right to the edges. The downward turn can be avoided by giving a definite upward curve to the lower line as it approaches the outer edges.

Regardless of the shape of your mouth, you should apply your lipstick to create soft curves. To do this, it's uaually necessary to go beyond the natural line in some spots. After a few months' practice, any woman can do this with ease.

If your lips are too narrow, enlarge them a bit. Then, as you get used to doing this, extend the line further if necessary.

Using a brush helps greatly to control the lipstick so as to achieve a smooth, definite line. It takes a while to become deft, but once you have, you'll never again apply your lip rouge from the container.

Reports John Wa Friend Of Burges

BERLIN, July 30 —UP—T West Berlin newspaper BX repo ed Friday West Germany's mis ing security chief, Otto John, w a friend and accomplice of Guy Burgess, one of Britain's "missi diplomats."

BX said Burgess helped John e cape to London when he fled fro Germany in 1944, and that Joh returned the favor by helping smuggle Burgess and Donald Ls MacLean through the Iron Curta in 1951.

The report was the latest of som series of rumors set off by John's disappearance into Soviet Berlin last week. The Communists — an John himself, in a series of record ed propaganda statements — sa he went voluntarily, but western officials believe he was lured over the border.

Intelligence sources said Anne- marie Weyres, nurse - receptionist employed by Dr. Wolfgang Wohlgemuth, has denied reports the doctor drugged John before they left together for the Communist sector.

These sources said Miss Weyres, who had been missing since July 20 was "located and interrogated," apparently in Frankfurt.

Parts of the 27-year-old nurse's story were withheld, but intelligence sources quoted her as saying she was present during the hour John and Wohlgemuth spent together before leaving West Berlin.

Burgess and MacLean dropped out of sight in May, 1951, and MacLean's wife and their children vanished about two years later. They have not been seen since, but all re believed to be somewhere in ommunist Europe.

Earlier, informed sources said Pistol Harry" Soedermann, a wedish police expert, has flown ere secretly to investigate John's isappearance.

Sweden's traditional neutrality ould make it possible for Soeder- ann to operate on both sides of e Iron Curtain in his search for formation about the missing an, who vanished into Soviet Ber- n July 20.

The Swedish expert helped to or- nize West Germany's police ce after World War II. He s contacts on the Red side of border — notably with Ernst llweber, secret police boss om he saved from deportation d probable execution during the Sodermann, whose phenomenal rksmanship earned h kname, is a member of the in- national criminal police mer adviser of the U.S. Federal reau of Investigation.

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: I am heartbroken over a situation that seems to be out of my hands. I'm 17 and going steady with a boy of 21 who is in service. Naturally, I promised to wait for and be loyal to him. Last week, however, my brother, who is also in the Army, came home from camp with a buddy. My brother is engaged, and asked me to complete a foursome for a movie date. Since his friend was staying at our house, it seemed no more than polite for me to agree.

I certainly had no intention of being untrue to Roger, my steady beau. I wrote him about the date, explaining just what had happened, and in his reply he said we had better call it quits since I couldn't be true. I don't think one mistake on my part called for such drastic action. He has always been jealous, but this time I think he's a bit unreasonable. Am I right or wrong?

Corinne M.

NO REASON FOR JEALOUSY

ANSWER: Even the most lovelorn swain should concede the fact that his girl can't be kept locked in a dungeon away from the world, and that in the course of any daily activity, she's bound to see other men, to be pleasant to them, even to talk to them without being considered disloyal.

What you did was absolutely no more than should have been done for a visitor. After all, since your brother brought him home, you were in a position of hostess, and in that capacity were required to make the boy's stay a pleasant one.

Such incidents will recur all through your life and if Roger is going to get on a high horse every time courtesy requires you to be pleasant, you are going to have a miserable time of it. With older brothers in the family, bringing friends home to meals, to spend the night, or a week end, you will have to sit at the table with them, talk to them in the evening, probably attend church, or the movies with them. Your Roger should realize that such conduct does not detract from your feeling toward him.

If you write, explaining how these things do, and will occur, I'm sure he'll get over his petty jealousy. Don't besiege him with apologies—you owe only an explanation. Let him come to a realization of his own childishness. If you let this jealousy of his get the upper hand now, you'll have a rough time later. Don't hurt him, but don't pamper him, either.

DEAR MISS DIX: With the exception of a very few close friends my own age, most of my associates are elderly; in fact, most of them are friends of my mother. I am 30 years old, and have three children. I go to church, belong to a club, but can't make friends my own age.

Q.I.G.

ANSWER: With three small children to act as entering wedges, you should have no trouble. Make every effort to meet the parents of their schoolmates or playmates. Ask new acquaintances in for cookies and a cool drink—a most conducive combination to friendship. Since you seem to be a congenial person, able to make friends easily, I'm sure you'll soon add many younger companions to your social list.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have written to you several times, always with most helpful results. Now I am making a different appeal, in the form of a favor. My mother is a semi-invalid and reading is her chief pleasure. I wonder, if among your readers, there are some who might have Italian books they no longer need. These may be religious, novels, history. Mother is well educated and enjoys all types of reading.

C.C.

ANSWER: Requests of this type are a bit out of my line, but if a few words from me will bring pleasure to an elderly invalid, I'm happy to help. If any readers have material of the type requested, please write to me for the name and address of Mrs. C.C. DO NOT SEND ANY BOOKS TO ME. C.C. will take care of the postage charges.

Write DOROTHY DIX for free leaflet D-20, "Is There A Test For Love?" In all cases, be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send request to her, care of this newspaper.

Nurse's Figure Problems May Be Similar To Yours

I received a letter the other day signed, "T n Student Nurses."

The letter said, "We are a group of student nurses and we have some figure problems. We're hoping you will be able to help us."

I thought that today I would print their questions and give the answers in this column, since they are quieries, the answers to which, will interest many women. I also like to give the nurses a little extra attention because they give comfort and care to so many others.

Question No. 1. "Since we walk a great deal we have noticed that the calves of our legs are enlarging. How can we reduce them? Also, does bicycle riding increase or decrease them?"

Try Exercises

Bicycle riding increases rather than decreases. However, you would have to do an awful lot of strenuous riding to have this do more than firm the legs. For slimming the calf do the following exercise: Lie on the bed. Lift your left leg upward as far as comfortable. Pull the toes back toward your head. Relax toes and return leg to the bed. The knee is stiff throughout the exercise. Do the same thing with the right leg and continue, alternating left and right.

Question No. 2. "What is a good exercise for straightening the shoulders without increasing the bust? Most of us have large busts but are inclined to be round shouldered."

Do this. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms stretched out on the floor, shoulder height, palms toward the ceiling. Keep your head and hips on the floor as you lift your shoulders off of the floor as far as you can. Head rolls backward a bit when you lift your shoulders. Hold a few moments and then lower shoulders to the floor. Continue.

Abdominal Exercise

Question No. 3. "What are some good exercises to take the fat off of the abdomen? We are tired when we get home and most of us are lax about exercise."

There are many exercisse but this is an effective and easy one. Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor overhead. Bend both knees up close to the abdomen and grasp the knees with the hands. Stretch out, returning your arms and legs to the floor at the same time. Stretch out against the floor, making yourself as long as possible before repeating.

Question No. 4. "How can we reduce large upper arms?"

You will notice that I have been kind to you and given you exercises which can be taken lying down until now. For this you will have to stand tall. Lift your arms forward, shoulder height and shoulder width apart with the palms toward the ceiling. Now swing the arms back the palms turn toward the back of the room. Swing arms forward to starting position, and continue.

If you are planning to have a photograph taken at a studio, here are a few tips: Don't wear rouge; it creates bad shadows. Don't go directly from hair dresser to photographer; the hairnet may leave ridges on your forehead. Just before the picture is taken, moisten your lips.

Thousands Move To Escape Red Rule

HANOI, July 30 —UP—Forty - five thousand loyal Viet Namese, including thousands of Roman Catholics, streamed southward from the Red River delta Friday to escape Communist rule.

The refugees ignored pleas to remain behind. Communist orators throughout the western delta told them they could keep their property and would not be harmed.

"You will only be coolies forever under the heel of the colonialists if you go south," the orators said.

Crowds from Communist - occupied villages around Hai Duong halfway down the road from Hanoi to Haiphong, the main evacuation route, surged around buses and truckloads of refugees, shouting at them to remain behind.

There was no violence in any of the demonstrations.

Most of the 45,000 came from Son Tay, 25 to 30 miles west of Hanoi. Among them were an estimated 20,000 Roman Catholics.

Msgr. Mazet, French bishop of Son Tay, decided to remain at his post and urged his priests to do the same.

Fighting continued to flare up in various parts of Indo - China.

French war planes bombed rebel troops which attacked posts in central Viet Nam with the cease-fire less than 48 hours away.

The cease-fire goes into effect in central Viet Nam on Aug. 1. Fighting stopped officially in northern Viet Nam on July 27 and ends in Laos Aug. 6, Cambodia Aug. 7 and south Viet Nam Aug. 11.

Poor communications made it impossible for truce negotiators at Geneva to end the shooting throughout Indo - China simultaneously.

Newsmen at Saigon protested Friday to Viet Nam Premier Ngo Dinh Diem against cables from their Hanoi correspondents being held up for 48 hours without advance notice.

The blink of a human eye can last as long as half a second.

Helen Kane Making Comeback

Robert Merrill confesses that when he sings for his own pleasure — in showers and other non-public places — he sings tenor arias, rather than his own baritone specialties. The grass is always greener on the other side of the tonsils.

She stood in the spotlight on the famous Palace stage. Her hair is still black and her face is still young - looking. Her figure has, well, spread out a little. But her voice is the same, and she was singing the same song:

"I wanna be loved by you, just you, boop-boop-a-doop."

Helen Kane is making a comeback, and doing pretty well. The most intriguing part of the whole business, to her, is that the teen-agers of today have suddenly discovered her. She thought perhaps she'd still appeal to people of her own generations — the 40- and 50-year-olds — and she does. But this 'teen - age excitement is a big surprise.

"I'm a new sound," she said. "Imagine that. Boop-boop-a-doop is something they've never heard. They like it. At my age, I'm all of a sudden a new sound."

Helen Kane, who reached her peak in the late '20s and early '30s, was retired for something like seven years. She was "just a housewife." With her husband, Dan Healy, another show business veteran, she lived comfortably on Long Island, with a farm in upstate New York, near Saratoga.

"I'd quit the business," she said, "because I was tired. I remember I used to say, 'If I ever find a bed without wheels, I'm going to stay in it forever.' But, you know this business. It gets you. And then Hollywood asked me to dub in the singing for Debbie Reynolds in 'Three Little Words.'

"That started it. I made some personal appearances with the picture, and that's when I discovered the kids liked my voice. It was different to them. So I figured I'd give it a try."

She's made a few TV appearances, a few radio shows and then came the Palace. Now she has her heart set on more TV and possibly Broadway. She used to be a comedienne, and she thinks she'd do well with a comedy-singing show on television or the stage.

"You probably don't remember," she said, and her eyes were far away, "but I was the ingenue with the Marx Brothers. That was when they were the Four Marx Brothers. I learned comedy from them."

She's mixing in some comedy in her act now. But mostly she sings new songs and her old stand-bys, "I Wanna Be Loved By You," "Button Up Your Overcoat," "Gimme a Little Kiss," and the rest. All liberally sprinkled with that grand new-oid sound, "Boop-boop-a-doop."

'NO PICTURES, PLEASE' —Greata Garbo arrived in Hollywood from Europe Wednesday night, and, as usual, tried to hide from photographers. This time she tried hiding behind her hair. She did talk to reporter but it was still "no pictures, please." (NEA Telephoto)

The bale which weighed 484 pounds was D. P. L. 15 and was grown by J. D. Arnold, Delhi, La., Route 1. It was ginned Tuesday, July 27, by the J. A. Harper gin of Crowville and was consigned to Massony & Altick for sale at the Memphis exchange.

Chennault Guest Of Masons In Ritual For Son

FERRIDAY, July 30 (Special)—Robert Kenneth Chennault received his Master Mason degree here this week as his beaming father, Gen. Claire Lee Chennault of Monroe, looked on.

The general, former "Flying Tiger" hero of the Far East during World War II, was a guest at the ceremonies during a one-day visit to his former home near Waterproof. He had previously asked the Ferriday Lodge No. 390, F and A.M., to postpone the ritual until he could be present to witness it.

General Chennault expressed appreciation to the lodge for its consideration. He declined to discuss politics or international subjects, but said he was just here for the ceremony and to see "my old friends and former neighbors" with whom I lived for years.

Robert, a resident of the Lake St. John area, was the only candidate, to receive the degree Tuesday night at a well-attended meeting of the local lodge in spite of the fact that it was election night in the parish and results of the political races were being tabulated on the new voting machines here and over the state.

Approximately 100 members of the local lodge and a number of visitors attended including Walworth S. Hootsell, Natchez, Miss., past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Mississippi, and Eler Gibson, Harrisonburg, Grand Junior Warden of the Grand Lodge of Louisiana.

Following the ceremonies, General Chennault and his party left Monroe, returned to his home, but before leaving he thanked the local lodge for the honors bestowed on his son and said he hoped to pay a return visit to his friends here in the very near future.

'Mr. America' Of 1954 Leads Semi-Nude Muscle Parade In Night Club

By ALINE MOSBY

LAS VEGAS, Nev., July 30—UP—While the Miss Universe girls still are counting their trophies, Mr. America of 1954 passed them up and is the newest, but "slightly embarrassed," semi-nude night-club star in town.

Dick Dubois and his retinue of seven other muscle men caused a minor riot when they showed up, bare except for white greek-type bikinis, in Mae West's night club debut.

As the veteran queen of sex explained it, this is the first time in history the ladies in the audience have something to ogle while their husbands check the measurements of the chorus girls.

Dick and the other boys, all Mr. America contestants, assume those stances you see in physical culture magazines—arms akimbo, muscles bulging, stomach yanked in to the backbone.

After three days of rehearsals by despairin, dance director Charlie O'Curran, the he-men also do an alleged dance. They even wiggle their chest muscles. One woman at the table next to me screamed. Another sniffed, however, that the Kinsey report says women aren't interested in looking at bare chests.

"Yah, we're a little bit embarrassed," Dick admitted after the show. "Some of the guys blush. But parading on the stage isn't too much different from the Mr. America contests.

"Besides, it's a great revelation of masculine virility. This will revolutionize show business. It's never been done before. I think beefcake is here to stay."

The muscle boys have changed life around the hotel, at least. The chorus girls spend their afternoons dozing by the swimming pools. But the male Marilyn Monroes brought along barbells and lift weights to keep in shape every day.

Some of them, like their chorus girl counterparts, are not interested in the mental side of life. But Dubois studied Shakespeare and has loftier ambitions than showing off his shape.

"I want to be a dramatic actor," he said. "I've had parts in pictures for two years."

Recently the curly-haired blond from New York played Debbie Reynolds' boy friend in "Athena" at MGM.

Romantic Rogue Is Found Guilty Of Embezzlement

RICHMOND, Va., July 30 (AP)—The romance-for-riches career of Percy W. Herman was sidetracked today by a federal jury which found the dapper Californian guilty of hoodwinking his elderly bride out of a fortune in cash and jewels.

The conviction came after 32 minutes deliberation and climaxed four days of testimony during which Herman's romantic past was sketched like a movie scenario.

The jury found the 49-year-old San Francisco native guilty of carrying across a state line $243,500 in cash and $60,000 in jewels belonging to Mrs. Dyoll P. Havens, 67 - year - old Palm Beach, Fla., woman whom he deserted the day after their marriage last March 3.

Judge Sterling Hutcheson delayed passing sentence pending a probation report. Herman faces a maximum 10 years in prison and $1000 fine. He said he would appeal.

The tall, gray haired Mrs. Havens—who has had their marriage annulled—softly clapped when the verdict was announced in an overflow courtroom where spectators lined the walls.

The government had brought in a dozen witnesses to tell of the cross-country romances of the strapping Herman.

Mrs. Havens told her story first, describing how she and Herman had met over a lighted cigarette at a Palm Beach auction gallery last January.

Soon they were planning marriage, she said, and Herman was inducing her to sell her real estate so they could begin a honeymoon trip to the Mardi Gras in New Orleans, Mexico and Hawaii.

The prosecution said he had other ideas and produced witnesses who testified that Herman was living in a one-bedroom cottage with a pretty brunette divorcee while he was wooing Mrs. Havens.

And after leaving the four-timeswed Mrs. Havens, the government said, Herman rejoined the brunette in New York — carrying with him Mrs. Havens' money and gems.

Some $213,000 of the money was recovered in safe deposit boxes in New York and Mrs. Havens is suing for repossession.

Another witness, Mrs. Mary S. Borgeson a 54-year-old redhead of Richmond, Calif., told a story similar to that of Mrs. Havens.

She said she met Herman five years ago after the death of her husband. They planned to marry, she said, and he promised her a trip to Hawaii and Mexico.

Upon his advice, she had the assets of her husband's estate converted to cash. Whereupon she related, Herman took $85,000 of the $170,000 she obtained and made a nasty exit.

Defense Atty. George Hunnicksouse cautioned the jury to consider the sole charge against Herman in rendering its verdict.

"He is not charged with being a slick character," said Hunnicksouse.

"We are not here to inquire into the morals of Mr. Herman. He may have lived in adultery with many women, but he is not charged with that."

The defense contention was that Mrs. Havens willingly gave Herman custody of her fortune.

Internal Revenue Chief Says Crackdown Started Against Tax Chiselers

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP) — Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews said today the Internal Revenue Service looks with a deep frown on taxpayers who claim dogs, fictitious wives and children and dead mothers-in-law as dependents.

Likewise, he said, the collectors can't go along with the idea — of at least one corporation executive —of deducting $48,000 for "call girls" as a business expense.

Andrews reported to a House Ways and Means subcommittee on an increasing crackdown on misuse of expense accounts for business tax evasion, and on "ingenious" but dangerous devices cooked up by small taxpayers to avoid paying their taxes.

He said abuse of dependency deductions is netting jail sentences up to three years for some small taxpayers trying to duck a few dollars in taxes.

"It doesn't pay to claim dependents you're not entitled to," Andrews said. But he added the government "leans over backward" to avoid fraud prosecutions of small taxpayers "except where we find them are downright immoral about their tax obligations."

Andrews said the government has found it necessary to get tough about the business expense racket, such as:

A corporation official who listed, for entertaining customers, $48,000 for "call girls," $33,000 for hotel rooms and $10,000 for gifts of perfumes furs and the like.

A gambler who claimed $100,000 in deductions including payments for lingerie, perfume and Cadillacs for his lady friends.

One corporation return listing payments to a lady friend of one of the officers as "royalty expenses" and another claiming as a business charge $5,000 paid to a private secretary "far from the corporation's home office."

Andrews said deductions for yachts and airplanes charged to business often give tax agents a headache.

He mentioned one corporation which listed $160,000 for business traveling expenses and a "water purification experiment." The water experiment, Andrews said, turned out to be the cost of building a private swimming pool.

And there was a businessman who deducted the cost of his groceries as a business charge on the theory that when his wife was in the grocery store she might overhear prospective customers.

"It seems the greedy get greedier," Andrews said, "and the more you get the more you want to get."

Monroe All-Stars Win State Babe Ruth Title, 4-2

Burnette Pitches 4-Hit Win Over Winnsboro V F W

The Cardinal's Bill Burnette limited the Winnsboro Babe Ruth V. F. W. team to four hits last night at Legion Stadium, and sparked his team's four-run burst in the first inning with a two-run double, as the Monroe All-Stars won the state crown, 4-2.

After the first inning outburst, pitcher Billy Temple of Winnsboro settled down and blanked the Monroe nine the rest of the way, striking out 12 in the process and allowing but four hits all the way.

His mates scored single unearned runs in the second and third, with a leadoff triple in the second frame by catcher Franklin being the only hit involved. After Frank's triple, he scored on a Monroe infield error; and in the next frame, John Donnell walked took second on a third-to-first groundout, and scored when a Burnette throw to second on an attempted pickoff was wild, rolling into centerfield where it got by Robert Perkins.

In the Monroe first, Jerry Grubbs walked, and was singled to second by Eddie Gowan. Carl Inzina was safe on a fielder's choice, with Grubbs being thrown out at third. Perkins hit a grounder to third, which Donnell fielded neatly, but overthrew first, and both McGowan and Inzina scored, with the batter taking second. J. L. Caldwell walked, and Burnette slashed a two-bagger to score both runners with runs number three and four.

Inzina was the leading Monroe batsman, with two singles in four trips, while Donnell had the best average for Winnsboro, with one hit in one offfcial trip.

Hamilton, Clark Trounce Cubans In Cup Matches

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., July 30 (AP)—Straight Clark and Hamilton Richardson won their opening round singles matched against Cuba's Garrido brothers today to give the United States a 2-0 edge in the American zone semi-final round for the Davis Cup.

Clark turned back Reinaldo Garrido 6-0, 9-7, 7-5 in a match of dazzling but erratic tennis.

Richardson simply had too much power for Orlando Garrido and won 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

A doubles match is scheduled tomorrow between the Garrido brothers and Clark and Hal Burrows. The final two singles matches will be played Sunday.

Jaycees Celebrate With Twin Cities Sports Here

It's "Jaycees-Twin Cities Sports Night' at Legion Memorial Stadium here tonight as Manager Ed Head comes home with his Twin Cities Cotton States League outfit to open a brief two-game home stand with the El Dorado Oilers.

The Jaycees, sponsoring this game and conducting special ticket sales for the event, also will send their softball club of the Civic League here against the Sports in a preliminary exhibition, beginning at 7:15 o'clock. The regularly scheduled Cotton States contest is billed to start at 8:15.

"Shadow" Holloway, who has been having a big hand in promoting the special night, has announced the "drafting of three former big leaguers, including the Sports' own manager, Ed Head, to pitch for the Jaycees. Head formerly hurled for the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Jaycees also hope to have Atley Donald, ex-New York Yankee hurler, and Bob Ledbetter, once a pitcher in the New York Giant chain, working in their corner.

"We even believe a Little Bigger Leaguer can prove effective," said Holloway, and he revealed little Mike Cage, who works in Little League circles here, has been added to the Jaycees mound staff.

The Jaycees promise plenty of comedy and trickery for the Sports but weren't revealing any secrets last night.

Although the Jaycees will play baseball instead of softball, they'll use ten players on their club, including roving short.

The Jaycee lineup has been announced as Sam Rubin, catcher; Jery Sugar, first base; Jerry Braud, second base, Jake Ussery, shortstop; Paul Ransom, third base; Dan Perrett, left field; "Shadow" Holloway, center field; David Masur, right field; Tom Hyland, roving short; Mack Ballard, pitcher; and Stan Bagwell, pitcher.

Condition Of 'Pop' Warner 'Improving'

PALO ALTO, Calif., July 30 (AP)—Glenn (Pop) Warner, 83, retired football coach, was reported "improving a little" at Palo Alto Hospital today. He underwent an operation for a throat tumor several weeks ago and had to return to the hospital about 10 days ago.

SERIOUSLY HURT

OXNARD, Calif., July 30 (AP) — Donald Mathews, 17-year-old brother of third baseman Eddie Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves, is in serious condition in a hospital here from injuries suffered in an auto collision yesterday near Point Mugu. Two other persons were less seriously hurt.

It must be nice for the male frog—every year being leap year.

NATCHITOCHES, La., July 30—(Special) The Natchitoches Motor Braves defeated the West Monroe Oneco Sales, 5 to 3, here tonight in the clincher of their state semi-final playoff for the American Legion Junior baseball title of Louisiana, but the victory was shadowed by the announcement of West Monroe's coach, Loy Scarborough, that he will protest the game.

Errors proved West Monroe's downfall as no Natchitoches runs were earned while Wayne Hendricks, Oneco, and Billy Roy Cook, Braves, hurled matching five-hitters.

Singles by Dennis Fields and "Chub" Johnson, plus an error, helped West Monroe to two runs in the first inning. They got their third when Robert Harris walked in the sixth, advanced on 2 passed ball and scored on Johnston's single.

Cook and John Leone were safe on errors with one out in the fourth for the Braves. They advanced on Charlie Evan's double and scored on Edwin Ganguet's fielder's choice that caught Evans. Jerry Lott scored Ganguet with a triple.

Coach Scarborough informed "Cracker" Brown, Natchitoches coach, he will file a protest against McElwee, the Braves third baseman, charging the youngster played amateur ball in another league in this area while playing with the Juniors.

El Dorado Wallops Twin Cities To Tune Of 8 To 0

Austin, Walenga Slap Home Runs To Spoil Sports

EL DORADO, Ark., July 30 (Special)—A grand slam homer by Pel Austin and a three-run homer by Frank Walenga highlighted an 8-0 victory for the El Dorado Oilers as the Cotton States League leaders swept their two-game series from the Twin Cities Sports here tonight. The two clubs move to Monroe to open another two-game set Saturday night.

Austin's homer came in the sixth inning with Gary Anderson, Bob Scott and Walenga aboard to break a scoreless deadlock. Then Walenga got his over-the-fence blast in the seventh after Anderson had singled and Scott had walked. The Oilers got their final run in the eighth when Anderson doubled, stole third and scored on an error as Virgil Petty missed Sam Chetta's throw in an attempt to stop the steal.

Bob Brown hurled the victory for the Oilers, allowing only five hits. His mates got to Miles McWilliams and Billy Halley for 12 hits.

Austin got his grand slam off McWilliams, and the Sports hurler had put Anderson and Scott aboard in the seventh when Halley came in to pitch. Walenga, first batter to face Halley, greeted the new chunker with his homer.

Ruston Lions Prep... For Football Jamboree

RUSTON, La., July 29 (Special)—A gala pre-season grid carnival, featuring six high school football teams of north Louisiana, has been scheduled by the Ruston Lions Club for Friday night, Au... in the Louisiana Tech Stadi...

Lion President Jimmy Mi... nounced this week that the t... annual Football Jamboree will ... sponsored by the local civic organization, with the active cooperation of Ruston High School as the co-sponsoring agent in the grid festival. Teams from Jena, Jonesboro-Hodge, Minden, Springhill, West Monroe, and Ruston will participate. Pre-Jamboree activities will start in the Tech Stadium at 6:30 p.m., with the Jamboree itself scheduled to get under way at 7:30 in the evening.

Cecil Crowley, Louisiana Tech coach, who is general chairman of the Ruston Lions Club Jamboree committee, stated that the grid menu for that night will consist of three separate games, as follows: first game, Jonesboro-Hodge vs. West Monroe; second game, Jena vs. Minden; and third game, Springhill vs. Ruston. All three of the games will be played within a period of about two and one-half hours, giving football fans of north Louisiana an outstanding pre-season treat and a chance to see these teams in action for the first time in 1954.

Each of the three games will consist of two regulation 15-minute halves of high school football action, and will give both the coaches and the fans some definite ideas about the prospects of the various aggregations for the fall grid campaigns. Each tilt will be conducted in the same manner as a regular game, including times out, substitutions, and other features.

Further plans already announced by coach Crowley include various pre-game activities, such as the presentation of high school bands that wish to furnish music and parade in uniform. All bands in uniform and prepared to furnish music for the occasion will be admitted free to the jamboree. Other features of the evening will be the presentation of the queens representing each of the participating teams, the introduction of distinguished guests, and brief opening ceremonies to be conducted by members of the Ruston Lions Club.

Tickets to the jamboree will go on sale next week in Ruston, with the prices being $2 for box seats; $1.50 for reserved seats in west stadium; $1 for general admission, and 50 cents for students. Mail orders will be accepted if accompanied by payment for tickets ordered directly from the Ruston Lions Club.

Jacoby On Bridge

Here's Spot Not To Double Your Foe

When reasonably sensible opponents get to a slam contract, it doesn't pay to double them. You won't beat sensible opponents much, so your double cannot gain more than 50 or 100 points for you. If the double happens to turn sour, it will cost you far more than 50 or 100 points.

When today's hand was played, West thought that he could afford to ignore this general rule about avoiding slam doubles. He expected to win a trick with the ace of diamonds, and he thought his trump holding would be good for two other tricks, but he was doomed to disappointment.

West opened the ace of diamonds and South ruffed. After some thought, South tested the situation by leading the ace of hearts. When East discarded a diamond, the situation was quite clear.

South led a spade to dummy's Jack and ruffed a second diamond, entered dummy with the king of spades to ruff a third diamond, then cashed the ace and king of clubs, followed by the ace of spades. Holding his breath, South next ruffed dummy's last diamond.

When his ruff succeeded, West was reduced to his three trumps.

2 N. T.	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
3 N. T.	Pass	4 ♣	Pass

Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♦ A

South could lead his losing club, and West had to ruff the trick. Now West had to lead away from his queen of hearts, thus giving the last two tricks and the doubled slam contract to declarer.

South would have made the contract, to be sure, regardless of whether or not West doubled. Hence the double cost West only 230 points. If he had beaten the slam his double would have gained only 50 points. Hence West was giving odds of better than 4 to 1 that he would defeat a contract that he couldn't actually beat. This sort of thing makes a player look very foolish and thus tends to hurt partnership morale.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 Diamond	Pass	2 Spades	Pass

You, South, hold: Spades K-J-6-2, Heart 4, Diamonds K-Q-J-8-6, Clubs A-3-2. What do you do?

A—Bid three clubs. You intend to raise spades vigorously at your next turn, thus showing that your club bid at this moment was only a cue-bid to show the ace. You can afford to move towards a slam in this way because you have good distribution, very good support for spades, and more than a minimum opening bid in high cards alone.

Today's Question

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades 6-2, Hearts 9-4, Diamonds A-K-Q-J-8-6, Clubs A-3-2. What do you do?

Franklin Runoff Candidates Open Campaigns Again

WINNSBORO, La., July 30 (Special)—Second primary candidates who will again go before voters August 31 have already embarked on their second primary campaigns in Franklin parish an registrar of voters Mrs. W. A. Hatton warned that Saturday at noon will be the last opportunity voters will have to register before the next primary.

In a close race, J. Vernon Sims defeated W. D. Cotton for the fifth district (Franklin, Richland, West Carroll) judgeship. No runoff will be required in that race.

However, Incumbent District Attorney Harry N. Anders will go against E. Rudolph McIntyre. C. J. Ellis, Jr. was eliminated in the first primary.

Two Franklin parish school board posts are still at stake. In ward 6, W. W. Reeder and G. N. Lewis will vie while in ward 8, J. C. Horne (incumbent) will meet Price D. Turnage.

School Board In Franklin Opens Repair Program

WINNSBORO, La., July 30 (Special)—W. D. Glover, superintendent and secretary-treasurer of the Franklin Parish School Board, said at a special meeting of the board Friday morning that a 40-acre plot of ground will be purchased on the outskirts of Winnsboro to further expand the Winnsboro High School.

The land was purchased from Frazier Robinson and Mrs. Mary R. Enright for a consideration of $18,500.

In other action the board accepted a $2,712.40 bid to purchase a public address system from the La. Education Service, of Baton Rouge. The unit will be used at Wisner High School.

A bid of $15,975 was accepted for repairs and paint on the Wisner school. C. R. Adams, of Winnsboro, was the successful bidder.

For Baskin High School a re-roofing bid of $1,449 was accepted by the board. Slagle-Johnson, of Monroe, was successful in that bid. Also for the Baskin school bids were accepted to construct dressing rooms and paint the building. The cost was $27,000, a bid offered by T. J. Owen.

For Crowville Hi School bleachers for a new football field will cost $1,360. J. A. Harper, of Crowville, will do the job.

Bids rejected for work on the Crowville school were: remodeling of home economics building, music room and dressing room additions, and painting the building. Bids were described as "too high" and will be re-advertised.

Bids on colored elementery schools were all rejected. They were Extension, Ft. Necessity, Baskin, Pardue, Cuba. Bids for work on these schools will be re-advertised.

1953 Thefts In Monroe Solved, Authorities Say

Articles valued at more than $500 which were stolen in Monroe late in 1953 were recovered Friday by Monroe Detective Chief Hugh Tolbert and Ouachita Deputy Sheriff W. O. Causey after questioning two men held in Rapides Parish Jail in Alexandria.

Tolbert said a quantity of ladies clothing valued at $385 and a $165 saddle, all part of loot taken here in 1953, was handed over by friends and relatives of Clifton Petecost and Donald Miller who had earlier admitted a series of thefts in this area.

The two men were arrested in Jena by LaSalle Parish authorities last month, and have since been charged with burglaries in Natchitoches, Ouachita, Rapides, and LaSalle Parishes and "several countries in Texas." Tolbert said official estimates placed the value of the entire loot in the "several thousand dollar" field.

The recovered clothing was taken October 10 from Elaine Canady and Sylvia Jones, Northeast Louisiana College students, when they left the articles in a laundry wrapper on the back seat of their automobile. Included in the loot, handed to the officers by relatives of Pentecost, was a Northeast band uniform and two purses.

The saddle was taken five days later from L. C. McKiskill on First Street in Monroe. Pentecost told the two officers that he had the saddle in the home of a sister in Alexandria.

3 More Charges Leveled Against Cpl. Batchelor

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 30 (AP)—The Army leveled three more charges today against Cpl. Claude Batchelor, the repentant prisoner of war who decided at the last minute to leave his Red Chinese captors in Korea.

Two charges accused the Kermit soldier of informing on other prisoners. A third accused Batchelor, 22, of taking part in a trial at a POW camp instigated by Communist sympathizers.

Lt. Dillar Barrera, 4th Army Information officer, said new charges resulted from sworn statements made by other former prisoners.

Batchelor is in 4th Army custody, awaiting court-martial next month on charges of giving aid and comfort to the enemy. Earlier counts accused him of making speeches to lure prisoners to communism, or writing articles backing Red propaganda and of writing letters expressing disloyalty.

Batchelor has asserted he was known in Korean prison camps as "a progressive who didn't squeal on his buddies."

He was one of the last 21 Americans in Communist hands who had refused repatriation. Another of the group, Cpl. Edward Dickenson of Virginia, also changed heart at the last moment and has been convicted by court-martial on charges of collaborating with the enemy.

Actors' Homes Are Threatened By Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 20-acre brush fire destroyed one house and endangered movie players' dwellings in the Coldwater Canyon area before it was controlled yesterday.

Actor Jack Palance called firemen and wet down the rear of his house with a garden hose.

Homes of actor Ward Bond and actress Ella Raines are on nearby cross streets. Movie producer Charles Feldman lives two doors from Palance. Actor George Raft's home is two blocks away.

A waiter in a Chicago restaurant was arrester for speeding. A bit hard to believe.

Stocks Higher With Bethlehem Shares Leading

NEW YORK, July 30 —UP— Stocks moved higher Friday under the leadership of Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube who are discussing the possibility of a merger.

Outside of the steel issues gains ranged to more than a point. Youngstown Sheet and Tube was up more than 6 points at one time. Bethlehem Steel touched a new high of 81, up 3⅜.

Trading picked up somewhat on the upswing. Sales were slightly over Thursday.

Demand for the steel shares came at the opening Friday. After the market closed Thursday, Eugene Grace, board chairman of Bethlehem Steel told reporters that his company was discussing with Youngstown Sheet the possibility of a merger, but he refused to predict the outcome of the negotiations. He also revealed favorable earnings for Bethlehem in the first half of this year.

The rise pushed industrial prices to further new high ground since Oct. 14, 1929. Railroad shares currently reach to the levels of Oct. 8, 1930. Utilities moved to a new 23-year high.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube opened on a block of 20,700 shares at 59½, up 6⅝ points and a new high. Bethlehem Steel's initial trade was a block of 3,500 shares at 78⅜, up ¾. They remained active throughout the session.

A number of specialty stocks were strong. General Dynamics continued its current advance. It touched a new high of 62¼. Just before the close, it was traded 61¾, up 1½ points.

Tennessee Corp. was another strong spot. In the last hour, it was quoted at 73½, a new high, and up 5½ points. Aircraft manufacturing issues had gains ranging to more than a point. Motor shares firmed.

GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 30—UP—All soybean deliveries, except May, traded at new highs for the season on the board of trade Friday when short covering found offerings light. Other grain futures were mixed.

The current heat wave, coupled with lack of moisture, helped both bean and corn futures. Active buying in soybean contracts also was prompted by the Agriculture Department's announcement of a sharp drop in soybean stocks.

Wheat ruled ¾ to 2¼ cents a bushel lower; corn ¼ lower to ¾ higher; oats ½ to ⅝ lower; rye ¾ to 1⅜ lower; soybeans 7¼ to 9½ higher; lard 5 to 18 points a 100 pounds higher.

Cotton Letter

NEW YORK, July 30—There was a fair hedging early in the day with some trade buying in the fall months on a scale down. Later the market rallied slightly from the lows of the day from weekend evening up and news of a higher parity.

Prices closed from 2 points higher to 3 lower for the day. Based on July parity of 35.09 the national average loan for middling 15-16, cotton will be 33.23 per pound. This is the highest support level since the government loan was instituted.

Unfixed call sales increased 94,000 bales in the week ending July 23, totaling 1,101,400 vs. 875,400 a year ago. Of these, 236,000 were based on October; 409,500 on December and 231,800 on March.

Unfixed call purchases increased 19,200 bales to 107,300 against 137,600 a year ago. Of these, 57,800 bales were based on October and 32,000 on December.

The Memphis Commercial Appeal reports that the Department of Agriculture in making its cotton crop estimate will write off 545,000 acres of estimated planted acreage as normal abandonment.

Therefore, the estimate will be on the basis of 19,416,000 acres. If yield per acre is estimated at 300 pounds on this acreage, the crop would be 12,125,000 bales. At the lowest yield per acre in recent years of 260 pounds, the harvest would be ten and one-half million bales.

The tropical disturbance has pushed westward in Texas causing showers in the southeast part and it is expected that rains may get as far west as central Texas and southern Oklahoma within the next 48 hours.

CHICAGO (AP)—(USDA) —Potatoes arrivals 70, on track 197; total U. S. shipments 401; California long whites $4.60-70; Idaho Oregon long whites $4.00-35; round reds $3.75-4.00; Washington long whites $4.00; Nebraska warbas $3.55.

Amendment Intended To Validate Bond Issue Is Rapped By PAR Official

SHREVEPORT —UP— An official of the Public Affairs Research Council today told a civic club that ratification of a proposed constitutional amendment approved by the 1954 Legislature would abolish present safeguards on disposal of state property.

At present, the Legislature is barred from selling the water bottoms of any navigable stream or any other body of water. The state also must retain mineral rights in any property it sells.

"Apparently these safeguards were dropped through oversight in the rush of legislative action," Edward J. Steimel, PAR's assistant executive director said.

The amendment would require voter-approval of all future bond issues. It specifically excludes the $42-million institutions issue and the $50-million highway issue approved by the Legislature, and at the same time confirms their legality.

Steimel also said the amendment contained "multiple purposes," contrary to state law. He said they:

1. Prohibit the Legislature from incurring debt in the future without approval of the people.

2. Exempt from the amendment's provisions bonds authorized by legislative act for highways and institutions.

3. Permit ratification of the highway and institutions bond issues.

"There are court decisions which raise a question as to whether constitutional amendments may be properly submitted to a vote of the people when embracing so many purposes," Steimel said.

Steimel also pointed out that the authorization by the Legislature of use of $56-million in surplus funds to sustain the spending level approved for the next biennium "may pose some serious questions for the future."

Loans Five Miles Of Snow Fence

The principal borrower was the Little League, a baseball organization of boys. Some 38 teams have encircled their playing diamonds with snow fence sections.

Concordia Drainage Work Mapped Out

FERRIDAY, July 30. (Special)— F. Morgan of the state department of public works presented a map to the Concordia Parish police jury Wednesday showing a survey of the new drainage work to be done in the parish.

The amount of the work will come to about $65,000, it was stated by Morgan. The presentation was made at the regular monthly meeting of the parish police jury held in the courthouse at Vidalia.
